Sewer system extension cost inside grant

by JAKE JACOB

Thomas Heard General Contractors, Baton Rouge, with a price of $131,255, was successful low bidder Monday, for sewer system extension work on Victoria, Bouslog, and Turner Streets in Bay St. Louis.

The work is to be financed by a 100 percent Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant and the bid was accepted subject to their concurrence.

Bay City Council, meeting in special session, recessed for fifteen minutes following the opening of bids, to allow

Out-of-state plates loose in annual tickets-for-tags drive

By EDGAR PEREZ

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner and members of his staff this week are stopping motorists at roadblocks and issuing citations for improper and expired tags, driver's licenses and inspection stickers.

The sheriff and his deputies Tuesday afternoon issued some 32 citations at roadblocks near the Waveland Elementary School.

"If you reside in Mississippi and send your children to school in Mississippi, you'd better have a Mississippi tag on your car," the sheriff warned.

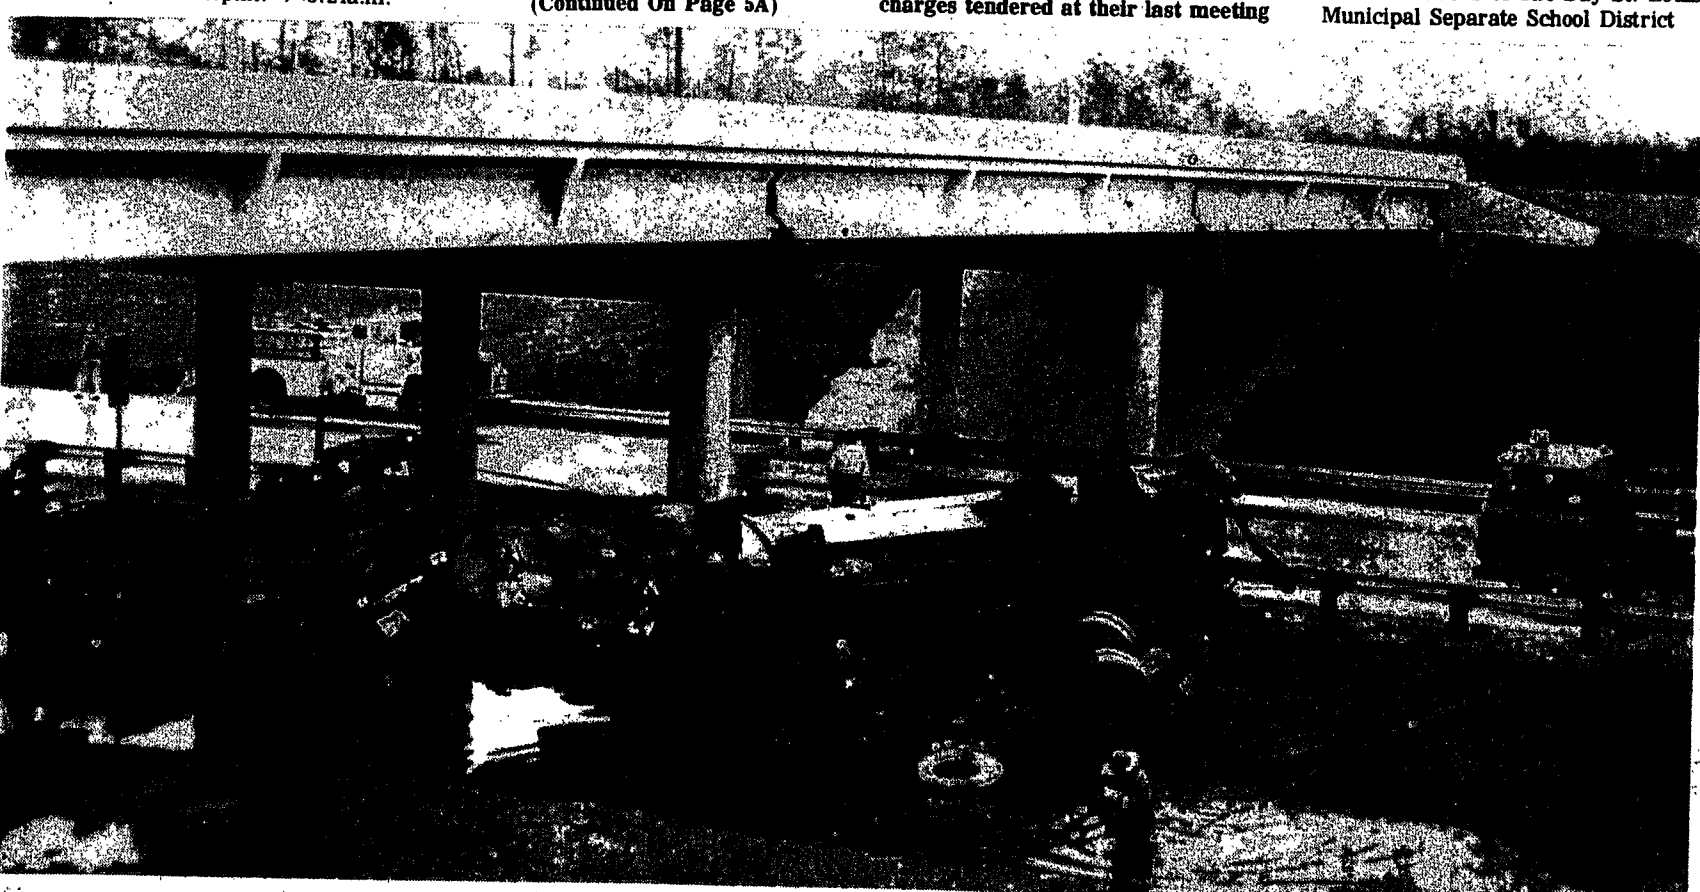

"It has always been our policy to stress enforcement of the vehicle tag laws around this time of year—we do it every year," the sheriff explained.

Ladner also noted the Mississippi Highway Patrol has a policy of stopping cars for tag violations after Nov. 15.

"Tags traditionally have become delinquent on Nov. 1, and we allow about a two-week grace period," the sheriff explained.

TRUCK WRECKAGE LITTERS I-10 HWY. 603 INTERSECTION—after a 22-year-old Baton Rouge, La., trucker, who police said apparently fell asleep, careened his rig off I-10 eastbound, shot over the embankment and crashed down on the far side of this drainage ditch alongside Hwy. 603. The driver is in critical condition in a Biloxi hospital. Leaking methanol fuel from the tanker posed serious threats of explosion and stream pollution throughout the morning Wednesday. Both roads at the intersection were closed to traffic from about 4:30 a.m. until almost 8 a.m. while firemen fought the danger of explosion. By Wednesday evening, remaining fuel from the wrecked tanker had been pumped to another rig and safety officials from Younger Brothers of Houston, Tex., owners of the truck, had removed the wreckage. Cattle rustlers elude sheriff; use mini-slaughter house ploy

Heavy rains early Monday left investigators few leads in their search for the culprits in the latest of a series of livestock rustling and butchering incidents in the north end of Hancock County.

Tire tracks at the scene of a Sunday butchering of a cow near Leetown were washed away and the search for spent cartridges or bullets was futile, according to Deputy M. A. Coward of Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's office.

Scattered entrails and a new but soiled pair of "muler's" gloves are all that Coward had to go on by mid-week.

The gloves, apparently purchased solely for the purpose for which they were used, were abandoned at the scene on property owned by Ms. Marsline Cuevas, also owner of the slaughtered animal.

A rise in the number of cattle and hogs being illegally slaughtered in the county coincides with the onset of the deer hunting season, deputies noted.

"It's possible the rustlers are posing as deer hunters," Coward speculated.

Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson ventured the opinion some of the incidents may have been accidental, with hunters mistaking the domestic livestock for wild game.

Upon finding he had shot a domestic animal, Peterson reasoned, a hunter might butcher the animal and carry it off rather than leave it to rot in the field.

But Coward is convinced the slaughter is the work of quasi-professionals, more than likely coming into Hancock from neighboring counties.

Coward said witnesses reported a vehicle spotted near the scene of a recent Texas Flat rustling bore Pearl River County license plates.

Coward reasons the guilty parties only risk spending the time necessary to butcher a slaughtered animal at the scene because of a long distance run necessary to get the carcass out of Hancock County.

The deputy said a slaughtered animal would spoil within two hours if not butchered.

The deputies said Sunday's incident was the second time within a year the Cuevas property has been hit by animal-slaughtering rustlers.

There have been two recent incidents in Texas Flat and as many as twelve throughout the county since the first of the year, the sheriff's office reported.

"It's grand larceny each time one animal is taken or killed," Coward pointed out.

"Livestock represents an investment in time and money, and it's difficult to place a value on an animal without knowing all that has gone into its raising," Coward explained.

The deputies noted that three-fourths of the Hancock County population north of Kiln own livestock.

Coward said the remains of the animal slaughtered Sunday were discovered the following day by a squirrel hunter who reported the find to Ms. Cuevas.

"We assume these animals are first

January likely groundbreaking for $53.2 million ammo plant

by JAKE JACOB

Initial construction contracts for work on the $53.2 million 155 Millimeter, High Explosive, M-483, ammunition plant, to be built in the north end of NASA-NSTL's fee simple area, are expected to be let during January or February of next year.

Kenneth Cole, general manager, Mason-Chamberlain Co. of Picayune,

To be built in Hancock County

the company formed from several in the ammunition field and selected by the U.S. Army to both build and operate the facility, made the announcement this week in the wake of official word of ground breaking schedules.

Army Major John Soron, acting project manager, under the command of General J. Egbert of Dover, New Jersey, who directs all ammunition plants, said this week that he was waiting data from both Egbert and Washington before he could give a final groundbreaking date but indicated it would not be later than Jan. 10.

The plant, the first new munitions facility to be constructed since World War II, will take five to seven years to construct and will have the unique ability to integrate the shell proper with its explosive components.

Other key personnel with the Mason-Chamberlain Company are Jack Cummings, chief engineer, and Ray Wise, administration manager.

General Manager Cole said this week that soil borings are now underway at key locations throughout the plant site, locations earmarked for installation of heavy manufacturing and materials handling equipment.

Mason-Chamberlain have engaged the services of about two dozen engineers and operations are, in the main, presently limited to a "purely engineering..." phase.

Heavy acquisition of material is not expected until February or March of next year.

Late operations work force figures have been given as 1500 in time of peace up to 3000 at a full production war time level.

The Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant (MAAP), according to the Final Environmental Impact Statement, combined to the NAVOCEANO manning requirement will add 6,855 persons to the population count inside the NASA-NSTL fence. This total is based on three shifts at the plant, and includes an estimated 1500 people assigned to the M223 Fuze Facility, not included in original planning. For the total, the Navy's work force is given as 1400.

Under normal operating conditions, one shift of eight hours, the personnel requirement will drop to 3,403, with 1400 of this total again being cited as Navy requirement, and 560 allocated to the fuze area proposal.

The M483 is a dual purpose projectile for the 155 mm howitzer utilizing antiarmor, anti-personnel controlled fragmentation, shaped-charged grenades.

The new weapons system is said to

To The Citizens of The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District

At the regular meeting of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District held on Monday, November 14, 1977 a number of parents appeared before the school board. Some were represented by an attorney relative to some of the matters presented and others acted in their own behalf.

There were allegations made relative to corporal punishment administered to students at North Bay Elementary because of their failure to do homework. There were also allegations that one teacher was giving words in sixth grade spelling far beyond the level of sixth grade students. Also, there were allegations that one teacher at Bay High School was calling students names that were derogatory in nature. The Attorney representing some of the parents and certain parents

State lime use increases benefits crop production

Lime use in Mississippi increased 71,000 tons or 13 percent this year.

"This increase occurred because Mississippi farmers understand the importance of lime, and when the supply is available will use it," says Dr. Kelton Anderson, leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Agronomy Department.

HOLIDAY SAFETY DO'S AND DON'TS

The Christmas season usually goes hand in hand with traditions. Many traditions revolve around the decorating of the Christmas tree, and the purchasing of gifts for loved ones and friends. I would like to offer a few tips to help make your holiday safe.

DO be careful when buying your tree.

When purchasing your Christmas tree this year, buy a firm, fresh tree. Store it in a cool place with the base of the tree in water, until ready to be decorated.

If you are buying an artificial tree, be sure to look for the UL Label which tells you it is classified as flame resistant.

Department.

"Farmers are willing to buy lime and pay a reasonable price for it anytime they can apply it to soils that need lime."

In spite of this increase, Mississippi soils continue to become more acid and place the need for increased lime use in a prime importance, reports the agronomist. For example, Soil test summary results for 1974-77 show that about 50 percent of every acre in crops or pastures needs lime to make a top yield.

Mississippi's lime supply is increasing. Many lime dealers have stockpiled lime for this fall to avoid transportation problems.

Another important factor in making lime more available is improvements made at state lime plants. There is also a relatively new plant in operation at Waynesboro, which provides about 1,000 tons of lime per day, according to the agronomist.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce currently operates three lime plants. All of the lime produced at these plants is calcium carbonate lime.

Liming material from both the West Point plant, the Macon plant is from marl, a soft material. The Waynesboro limestone is a mixture of soft and hardrock material.

The West Point and Macon limestone has a neutralizing value of about 80 percent and is readily reactive to correct soil acidity. The Waynesboro limestone has a neutralizing value of 90 percent and is a little harder and reacts more slowly. All three products are good quality liming material, according to Dr. Anderson.

These three state plants have a capacity of about 5,000 tons of lime per working day and supplied about 548,000 tons last year. In addition about 300,000 tons of lime per year is shipped from other states. Any farmer who has a truck can pick up his own lime at either of the state lime plants at $2.25 per ton f.o.b.

Fall is an excellent time to apply lime. Spread lime uniformly and mix it with the soil during seedbed preparation between now and next spring. If lime is not spread uniformly, then yield responses will vary across the field next year.

Where soils are to be chiseled or subsoiled, apply lime ahead of chiseling or subsoiling. This will permit the lime to go deeper in the soil and be mixed better during seedbed preparation.

"It is estimated that a good liming program would increase the value of crop production in Mississippi $100 million per year," says Dr. Anderson. "It is time to start cashing in on this $100 million opportunity. Lime is indeed a blue chip investment for Mississippi farmers whose soil test shows a need for lime."

THE OLE

PASTOR SAYS...

THE BOTTOM LINE in the context of practical and purposeful Christianity is reaching out to those about us who need a helping hand!

The apostle Paul admonished the Galatians to "not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity," he continued, "let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal. 6:9-10).

This rich truth reminds us of the love, care and compassion shown by Christ in meeting the needs of the multitudes who thronged about Him as He walked along the way. He healed the sick, restored sight to the blind, made the lame to walk, raised the dead, cast out demons and fed the hungry multitudes. In short, He lived and He died, always in the interest of others. He said: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." (John 10:10).

If we would be like our Master, in dedicated service, following His example, we, too, must open our eyes to discern the needs of those around us and let our hearts be moved with genuine Christian compassion.

We are surrounded by people with diverse needs and our opportunities to make Christ known by our actions, as well as through verbal witnessing, are multiplied during such times of deep need, stress and crisis as so aptly characterizes our generation.

There are neglected children, delinquents, drug addicts, alcoholics, diseased, deformed, the crippled, deaf and blind, the incarcerated all who need to feel the tender touch of a loving hand and the warmth of a compassionate heart. There are the aged, the shut-ins, the infirm, the poverty stricken, the bereaved, the lonely, the discouraged, the stranger among us, and others who despair of hope in various experiences of tragedy and loss. "But who so hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need; and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?" (1 John 3:17).

Yes, in real Christian service, we can be Christ's hands extended to help, to comfort, to lift up, to encourage, to beckon the lost to Christ in the midst of their human perplexities. Multitudes everywhere are in need! They are looking and hoping for an expression of Christ's compassion to be exemplified in us. Can we forget ourselves and move forth as a shining light in a world of darkness to show the way to so many in need of help? -L.S. Walker

HOGS

Farrowing intentions indicate a sizeable expansion of hog supplies may be underway. If the increased farrowings materialize, weaker prices could develop.

With a large grain crop and the best corn-hog ration since 1973, slaughter of gilts may be limited. This would reduce slaughter supplies, but cause increased expansion later.

However, with corn prices at the lowest level in years, farmers might consider selling their corn crops through hogs as a more profitable alternative to selling it on the cash market.

LIMIT GRAZE TO REDUCE WINTERING COSTS

Good growing conditions this fall has our wintergrazing crops off to the best start in years. This situation makes it tempting to turn brood cows on the grass full-time and not bother with limiting grazing. However, to efficiently utilize high cost winter pasture, brood cows should be grazed a limited time each day.

These winter pastures provide high quality forage which will meet a cow's protein and energy needs. The major problem associated with wintering the brood cow on wintergrazing is its cost. A mature cow will require from 1 to 1.25 acres to assure adequate forage when grazed fulltime. Quality wintergrazing runs 20 percent or more in protein and up to 70 percent in total digestible nutrients. Extension Animal Scientists report that cows grazing fulltime will get nearly twice their protein needs and about 60 to 80 percent more energy than necessary. Limited grazing offers a method to get the most efficiency from a wintergrazing program at the least cost per cow unit.

Bayou LaCroix landfill closes, Catahoula opens

Notification of the closure of the Bayou La Croix Sanitary Landfill, effective Wednesday, Dec. 7, was given this week by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Garbage previously taken to this location must now be transported to the newly opened Catahoula Sanitary Landfill site, five miles west of the flashing light in Kiln.

A notice to the public, signed by John Rutherford, Jr., county clerk, states the action is being taken by the supervisors pursuant to an order issued by NASA-NSTL in those holdings the disposal facilities are located.

The notice forbids the dumping of garbage, trash, or any waste material whatsoever, at the Bayou La Croix site. Further, it states, such materials must be taken to the Catahoula site located on the old Kiln-Picayune Highway.

Action on the NASA-NSTL request followed receipt of a letter from Melvin W. Dovith, chief, Real Estate Division, Corps of Engineers, Mobile, saying that permission to use the new Catahoula location had been granted following a previous request to cease operations at Bayou La Croix and to restore the site to the condition required by the license and the State of Mississippi Board of Health regulations.

Dovith, his letter, dated Nov. 10, states that an inspection on Nov. 7, revealed Hancock County "...is still occupying the site ... that considerable garbage and debris were on the site as well as the access road leading thereto.

The County's bulldozer was still on this site.

"You are hereby directed to cease dumping garbage immediately at the site initially granted to Hancock County and to restore the site, including the access road, to the condition stated in the first paragraph above within 30 days from the date of receipt of this letter. Disregard of these instructions could result in Hancock County being denied use of any Government-owned land at NSTL for a sanitary landfill, Dovith firmly stated.

The supervisors' closure action is within the time span outlined by the Corps of Engineers, and clean-up work on the site and access roads should be completed well within limitations, it was stated Tuesday.

Law suit...

representing themselves requested an immediate investigation of these various allegations and pursuant to these requests, the Board did cause a thorough investigation to be made. After due consideration of all facets stemming from the investigation, the Board found that there was not any harsh or unreasonable corporal punishment being administered by the principal and teachers.

However, the Board did find that in some instances the school board policies were not strictly carried out and that in order to remedy this situation, all teachers have been instructed to strictly follow school policies as set out in the teachers handbook.

Hereafter, there will be no corporal punishment for an academic violation such as failure to do homework or achieve passing grades. That will be the responsibility of the parents. Corporal punishment, under proper supervision, will be administered only on cases of misbehavior or for disciplinary reasons. Furthermore, the teachers have been instructed to use textbooks approved by the State Department of Education in the teaching of spelling as well as all other classes. Also, in the future there will be no name calling by any teacher that will in any way be considered derogatory.

We believe that these actions of the Board will promote a better working relationship between the public and the school administration and faculty.

Tickets for tags...

"This year we decided to wait until after the Thanksgiving holiday was over before setting up roadblocks," Ladner noted.

The sheriff said roadblocks will be set up at all schools in the county. "The Bay St. Louis police department will handle those schools in their jurisdiction," the sheriff explained.

"We feel that by now the summer tourists are gone, and if people have children attending school in Hancock County and also have out-of-state tags on their cars, they will have to explain that to the judge," the sheriff stated.

"And there will be other random locations around the county with roadblocks in addition to the school areas," he warned.

The sheriff noted tags this year for the first time will expire one year from the date of purchase, rather than all on Nov. 1 as in previous years.

He noted tags are currently on sale in the assessor-tax collector's office on the first floor of the courthouse on Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Purchasers will receive tags immediately, the sheriff observed, adding, "...the smaller the car, the cheaper the tag; the older the car, the cheaper the tag," in reference to tag costs which are relative to the value of the car.

Horsepower, make, model and model year are considered in the tag cost breakdown, the sheriff said.

He pointed out that tags for the current year have been on sale at the courthouse since Oct. 1.

Bay St. Louis hot hearse hunt heightens

Police this week are continuing the search for a 1977 white over gold Cadillac hearse stolen sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning from Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home on U.S. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

The perpetrators broke into the front door of the funeral home and removed the keys to the vehicle from a rack. Police said $100 in cash and checks were also missing.

The thieves left the business via a side door, police said.

The hearse is reported valued at $23,000.

Patrol investigator who specializes in cattle theft, will be asked to assist in the Hancock County cases, the deputies said.

The deputies at week's end are continuing to question neighbors in the areas of the latest incidents, and in addition, are seeking information which may be helpful.

Peterson said any information reported to the sheriff's office concerning cattle theft and slaughter in the county will be held strictly confidential.

Information may be reported anonymously to the sheriff's office if necessary, Peterson added.

"We feel it's possible this week's incident is the work of local residents," Coward said.

haven't answered my questions yet," Favre said this week following release of an investigation report by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board.

Favre, represented by attorney Charles Sykes of Gulfport, filed complaints of improper administration of corporal punishment against a North Bay teacher and principal at the November school board meeting.

The board conducted an investigation into Favre's complaints and a report on that investigation is included in this issue of The Echo.

"We still have a problem with this child," Favre said of his nine-year-old son Marty.

Favre said Marty has not attended school since the end of the Thanksgiving holidays.

"We are going to take him to a psychiatrist, and if the doctor thinks his problems are related to his treatment at school, then we will be talking to our lawyer again," Favre said.

"We're really not sure, otherwise, what to do right now. We've taken him out of school because he can't make any progress in this upset state of mind," Favre continued.

"This could affect him for the rest of his life," the distraught father concluded.

Rep. Compretta files Legislative report

Dear Fellow Citizens of Hancock County:

The 1978 Session of the Mississippi Legislature will commence on January 1, 1978. This year, as in the past, there will be numerous bills introduced which will affect each one of you. As your representative, I will be faced with issues that will be vital to the economy of our state and to the welfare of the people. To be able to reach sound conclusions on these and other issues, it is important to hear from you. Your views and opinions will be most helpful to me in considering the difficult issues in the Mississippi House of Representatives. The questionnaire listed below, deals with some of the major pieces of legislation to be voted on in the next session. By completing it, you will be making your voice heard in the operation of our state government. When you have completed the questionnaire, please detach and mail to be at P.O. Drawer UU, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. If you have any additional comments or questions on other legislation please feel free to add this to the questionnaire. Please take time to participate. Your views and opinions are very important to me. Thank you. Please return before December 31, 1977.

(PLEASE CIRCLE YOUR ANSWER)

1. Legislation has been pre-filed to require that industries exempt from ad valorem taxes shall not be exempt from ad valorem taxes for school district purposes. Do you feel that industries should be required to pay taxes for school district purposes?

YES NO UNDECIDED

2. A bill will be introduced to allow dog-racing and horse racing in certain counties of the state, as a means of raising additional revenues for the state. Would you favor this on a County option basis as a means to put more money into the state treasury as opposed to raising taxes?

YES NO UNDECIDED

3. There is a provision in the Mississippi Constitution which prohibits the Governor from running for a second, consecutive term. Are you in favor of removing this provision and allowing the Governor to seek a second term?

YES NO UNDECIDED

4. Approximately 2-3 of the total state budget is spent on Public Education. As a member of the House Education Committee, I would like your opinion on what ways, if any, public education needs to be improved and if financing should be changed in any way.

5. The present state statute requires that a school bond issue must receive approval of 60 percent of those voting in the election for passage. Would you favor changing this to a simple majority (50 percent or more) to pass a school bond issue?

YES NO UNDECIDED

6. County school board members currently serve six year terms and there are no minimum educational requirements or qualifications required before one can run for this office.

(1) Do you feel their terms should be reduced to 4 years?

YES NO UNDECIDED

(2) Should there be minimum educational requirements or qualifications for school board candidates?

YES NO UNDECIDED

(3) Should all school board members, county and city, be elected or appointed?

ELECTED APPOINTED

(4) Should the Superintendent of Education, both county and municipal separate system be appointed or appointed?

7. Would you favor an act to require that all motorists have proof of liability insurance before they can operate their cars, even if this meant that rates on all liability insurance would increase as a result of this requirement?

YES NO UNDECIDED

8. Most states have laws which make parents liable for the damage done to other persons' property by their children. Mississippi does not have such a law. Would you favor legislation that would make parents responsible for damages or injuries to other persons and/or property caused by negligent acts of their minor children?

YES NO UNDECIDED

9. Would you favor a law giving the County Board of Supervisors authority to regulate hunting throughout the county?

YES NO UNDECIDED

10. What one thing would you most like to see, which in your opinion would improve our state government?

Sail'n along

by Ellis Cuevas

A reader over the weekend suggested that we all could be good citizens, by getting the license plate numbers of culprits dumping garbage along Beach Blvd. and give plate numbers to police. This reader was referring to Sunday's editorial about the bags of garbage being dumped along our beach.

Congratulations are due to the efforts of those people (or that person) who dress up the weekly menu's for the Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District. It just goes to show how someone can do something extra to show dedication to a job. Keep up the good work.

Seeing work in progress on Sunday by the Main Street contractor should give a little relief to the folks living on Main Street in the construction area. With rain again yesterday, one must remember that neither city officials nor the contractor have any control over the weather. We regret the inconveniences being caused by the work, but we can't seem to come up with a solution either.

Congratulations are in order for Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett on his appointment to the Coastal Water Quality Advisory Committee by state Governor Cliff Finch.

If you haven't visited King Tut (Tutankhamun) Exhibit yet, we suggest you take this once in a lifetime opportunity and do so. You will be amazed at the craftsmanship known to man over 3,250 years ago. Just think, over 500 thousand have viewed the Egyptian Treasures in New Orleans in 73 days. Your opportunity to visit King Tut will end on January 15, 1978, unless you go to California, Washington State, New York, or Cairo, Egypt.

Til next time!

Letters to the Editor

"We were welcomed"

Dear Editor:

Newly retired, my husband said, one day in the late 40's, "I'll walk to de Montuzin's to see the water along the way." "I'll walk on Second Street to see the town and Post Office," I said. And off we went.

Soon I paused at a chattering filling all the trees, a large migration of birds. "Surely is a sight to see, isn't it?" said an elderly man from his porch. "Yes, it is," I answered, thinking how friendly!

A small house on Main Street, Carmichael Real Estate, enjoyed a shrub so beautiful with great pink blossoms, my lips parted involuntarily, drawing breath inwardly. "I'd love to have one of these," I said to a small child. "By any chance do you know its name?"

HEALTH TIPS

WHEN TO SEE THE DOCTOR

All of us are now and then faced with a quick decision: should we, or shouldn't we see the doctor?

The American Medical Association lists several points for consideration as a general guide to help you decide whether medical aid should be sought at once — —When your complaint or symptoms are too severe to be endured, such as abdominal pain common to a gall bladder attack or appendicitis or kidney colic, or sudden chest pains. Immediate relief of pain is the purpose of getting the patient to the doctor without delay.

—When an apparently minor symptom persists for more than a few days or a week, and does not appear to be due to some easily identified cause. A nose bleed from a sharp blow is one thing; a nose that bleeds constantly or frequently for no apparent reason is quite a different matter.

—When the symptom returns repeatedly for no readily apparent cause. Digestive disturbances due to overindulgence are one thing; constant digestive distress despite great care and moderation in eating is another.

—When in doubt, it is safer to call the doctor than to take a chance.

Many accidents around the home or yard cause bruises and scratches and minor sprains that can be successfully treated at home. But some accidents require fast medical attention.

If the accident victim is unconscious, get help fast. Also when bleeding is severe or cannot be controlled; when the victim is groggy or confused; when there are signs of shock, such as pale, cold skin, sweating and weak pulse.

Breathlessness or intensive thirst after the accident require medical attention. If there is a possible broken bone, seek help. Also for severe pain, signs of poisoning, serious burns, persistent vomiting, blurred vision.

"Confederate Rose," said an elderly lady, opening the door. "See the new ones sprouting at its base? I'll give you one." She dug one up, put it in a bag, with the love of beauty that shares and put it in my hand, as my heart and I both thanked her.

A gentleman at the Post Office opened the heavy door and held it as, thanking him I went inside. At the window - new faces. Kindly faces. Helpful. "What can I do for you?" "A book of stamps," I said. But they had done more. Courtesy, kindness and a feeling of belonging went with me to de Montuzin's.

Imagine! A drug store with a resting bench! I rested as Mrs. de Montuzin finished with a customer. "All I want," I said, "is that bar of heavenly hash for my husband. It's his favorite." She laughed merrily. "He was here a while ago and bought one for you. He said it was your favorite." We both laughed. What fun! Even humor that ever lightens hearts.

I left for home, thinking of all the lovely things I'd found. Friendliness, love of beauty that shares, generosity in my hand, courtesy, kindness, a feeling of belonging, a resting bench of graciousness remembering the weary, humor, nods and smiles from all who passed. And I fell in love with the people of the town when first I walked among them.

My husband stood beside a tree, drinking in beauty of beach and sky, sunset rose, reflected in water spreading a thousand miles - of so many changing moods none could paint them all. I took his hand, "Edmund, we've come home - to the right place. Listen to the lovely things I've found."

Are not these the very heart of life? Is not the town that so expresses them the richest legacy we can leave our children? For beauty beheld becomes a part of us, like a beautiful thought that none can take away - that is worthy of our most grateful prayers.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth H. Sullivan

Holiday hazard list stresses safety first

Reflections of colored lights bounce off the sparkling ornaments that hang from the tree. All is well with the world, and you feel safe and secure.

And you will be safe if you take a few precautions before you sit back and enjoy the holidays.

Every year fires and severe electric shocks from holiday decorations and the season abruptly for thousands of Americans. Sports and recreation equipment and toys—great holiday gifts—also increase the injury toll if they are not selected and used with care.

The following accidents were taken from the files of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The names are fictitious, the facts are true.

Malfunctioning Christmas tree lights threw off sparks that ignited the presents and carpets underneath the tree in the Fisher home. Lorraine tried to put out the fire, but it spread rapidly through two floors of her apartment building causing $250,000 in damage. Some residents had to jump off their balconies to escape the smoke and fire.

Six-month-old Jack fell onto his toy truck. The metal prongs on the truck penetrated his skull and had to be removed at a hospital emergency room. He was hospitalized for two days.

Thirteen-year-old Peter Daly was permanently paralyzed from his waist down when he fell off his skateboard after it hit a rise in the sidewalk.

To help prevent such accidents and keep your holiday season joyful, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission offers these safety suggestions.

Trees

A dry tree is a fire hazard, so before you buy a cut tree, check it for freshness. The needles on a fresh tree will bend; needles on a dry tree feel brittle and weak or fall off when you try to bend them. When you bring your tree home, cut the trunk off diagonally one or two inches from the bottom. The diagonal cut allows more water to be absorbed into the tree. Make sure the tree is held securely in sturdy tree stand. Fill the tree stand with enough water to completely cover the cut line and check it every day to make sure there is plenty of water in it.

Set your tree up away from the fireplace, heat vents, and other heat sources. And make sure it is not in a heavy traffic area where someone could knock it over or fall into it.

Lights and Decorations

Before you put the tree lights on, check the strings for frayed or exposed wiring, loose connections, and broken or cracked sockets. Throw out or carefully repair any damaged sets. Replace burned out bulbs before you put the strings on the tree, so you don't have to stretch to some hard-to-reach place later. Be careful not to overload extension cords and wall sockets.

Never decorate metal trees with electric lights. This could present a severe shock hazard. Instead, use a colored spotlight to light up the tree.

When you put on the ornaments, remember to place the delicate glass ornaments high on the tree, out of the reach of children and pets. And don't use lighted candles to decorate your tree; they can easily start a fire.

For outdoor lighting, make sure the lights are designed and clearly marked for outdoor use. As with the indoor tree lights, check the strings carefully before you set them up outside. Always turn off and unplug your holiday lights, inside and outside, when you leave the house or go to bed.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has put together a checklist for toys and recreational equipment for your convenience.

Toys

Keep the child's age, interests, and skill level in mind, especially when you buy toys for pre-schoolers.

—Look for well-constructed toys.

—Make sure there are no sharp edges or points on the toys.

—Check for small, loosely attached parts—including buttons—that can be pulled off and swallowed.

—Avoid toys that produce excessive noise that can damage hearing and propelled objects that can injure eyes.

—Electrical toys with heating elements should only be bought for children over 8 years of age.

—Remember that adult supervision can prevent accidents.

Sports and Recreation Equipment

—Select equipment that is right for the age, size and interest of the person. A child could lose control, for instance, of too large a bicycle that he is supposed to "grow into."

—Look for well-built equipment.

—Buy protective gear for competitive sports.

Skateboards

—Look for a well-constructed skateboard.

—Make sure both the wheels and trucks (connect wheel and boards) are properly secured. They should be checked regularly during use.

—Beginners should practice the basics before trying tricky maneuvers.

—Never skateboard in the street or around cars.

—Wear tennis shoes, long pants and a long-sleeve shirt. Even better, dress like serious skateboarders do: elbow pads, knee pads, heavy gloves and helmet.

The holiday season should be a happy time for everyone, don't let yours be spoiled by an unfortunate accident. Buy carefully, use properly and enjoy the warm memories of a safe holiday.

Mississippi consumer report

CREDIT CARD BILLING ERRORS

Now your credit card billing complaints must be answered. A new federal law, "The Fair Credit Billing Act," requires this. If you think you have been billed the wrong amount, have been charged for products you didn't buy or were never delivered, didn't get credited for a payment you sent, or think that any other billing error has occurred. Here are some points to remember:

—Once you have notified the credit card company in writing of your complaint within 60 days of getting the bill, the company must within 30 days acknowledge that it has received the complaint. Within 90 days, it must either correct the mistake or send a written explanation as to why the original bill was correct.

—During this 90 day period, you do not have to pay any of the amount that is in dispute or any finance charge on this amount. (You still, of course, have to make payments on other charge purchases you make.)

—The company cannot close your account or give a bad report on you to a credit bureau during this period.

—If a company doesn't follow these regulations, it forfeits the amount disputed up to $50, whether a billing error has been made or not.

—If the merchandise you charge is defective or shoddy and you can't get satisfaction from the seller, you can refuse to pay the credit card company.

—You do, though, have to be prepared, if the issuer sues you for the amount, to demonstrate that you made an authentic effort to resolve your problem with the business where you bought the product or service. You also, of course, have to have evidence that the product or service was unsatisfactory.

—The purchase has to involve an amount more than $50 and must involve a business within the same state as you or within 100 miles of your home. If, however, the credit card issuer is the business itself or if the purchase was made through a mail order solicitation, there are no limitations on the amount of money or the mileage.

PRJC to open machine shop

Pearl River Junior College's new automotive machine shop is planned to be completed by fall of next year.

"We expect the construction of the Mechanics Building to be a long drawn out affair due to the rainy season coming on," stated James Forte, local vortech director. There are various workers constructing the $350,000 building.

If the rainy season sets in before certain parts of the building are completed there will be a hold-over of work. At the present time the completion of the base of the building is at completion.

The advantage of this building is to expose students to machinery that they are not familiar with using. This will broaden the student's capability, and therefore help him or her in their future.

An enrollment increase is expected in these courses. There will be integrating subjects between diesel and automotive mechanics. There will also be a small welding shop and a radiator shop built to expose students to more machinery. Better machinery has already been ordered.

Coast jobless rate tops state, national averages

The tri-county area comprising Hancock, Harrison, and Stone Counties reported an unemployment rate for October higher than the national and state averages for the month.

The Mississippi State Employment Service said the tri-county area registered a 7.4 percent unemployment rate with a total civilian work force of some 61,470.

The national unemployment rate for October is 6.3 percent and the statewide figure is 5.6 percent.

The local 7.4 percent represents 4,570 persons out of work in the three-county Metropolitan Area, according to the employment service.

The number of persons employed in the area was down only slightly from the 56,960 working in September to 56,900.

The employment service said, however, that a 17 percent rise in the number of unemployment compensation claims in October brought a rise of some 480 claimants over the 4,090 registered in September.

"Occupations of this 'insured' unemployment show clerical and sales personnel to be the highest group in the jobless category, followed by structural occupations principally representing jobs in the building crafts," the service reported.

The employment service said layoffs in the tourist oriented industries following Labor Day put service occupations "very much in evidence" among the unemployed.

A breakdown of unemployment claims in October shows 28 percent of active claims having been filed by retail trade personnel, followed by the service industries with 24 percent and construction trades with 17 percent, according to the employment service.

"The beginning of the annual upswing in trade employment because of the pre-Christmas activity should lower the unemployment rates appreciably during November and December," the service reported in its monthly bulletin.

What a week we've had at Buccaneer Park!

Many campers decided to take advantage of their holidays by spending a weekend in our park. And a great number reported a Thanksgiving turkey in full regalia - a surprising fact considering the compact kitchens in most mobile homes! But that's the type of people most campers are - they have a great time despite a few inconveniences.

And to wrok off that excess turkey - what a hoe-down we had Friday night! The recreation hall was filled with spirited square dancers. A camping-square dancing club, which is just getting started, held its first outing at Buccaneer Park. Caller John Litzenberg added to the fun with his lively antics. Promenades, curly-q's and doe-se-does were the order of the night.

And, ladies, speaking of excesses - our exercise class started 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday. Everyone is still invited.

All participants are asked to wear loose clothing and bring a mat or blanket for floor exercised.

There is no fee for this class.

Other classes offered at Buccaneer are "Hobby Horticulture" and "Basket-making." Both classes start soon - Horticulture at 9:30 a.m. on Friday; Basket-making at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. New participants are welcomed.

The cost of these classes will be the cost of materials.

JULIETTE LOW WORLD FRIENDSHIP Award was presented to Jim Gambrell, right, president of the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council, by Congressman Trent Lott, for achievements of the council in their efforts to promote worldwide sisterhood of young girls.

County north-south traffic diverted via Delisle, Dedeaux;
firemen dilute escaping gas; dam built, halts river pollution

A fully-loaded fuel tank truck careened off an Interstate Highway 10 embankment Wednesday morning, coming to rest at the edge of State Highway 603 and posing a serious threat of explosion and fire to the intersection for several hours.

Area firemen and law enforcement officers worked through the early morning hours Wednesday to prevent an explosion of methanol alcohol fuel leaking from the tanker-trailer which had come to rest under the I-10 bridge over Hwy. 603.

Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniciaro was instrumental in damming a roadside ditch to prevent the highly toxic fuel from draining into the Jordan River where, authorities say, it would surely have killed fish and other wildlife.

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Hershail Ladner said the driver of the rig apparently fell asleep and continued to accelerate before leaving the inside, east-bound lane of I-10 at a high rate of speed.

The rig left the roadway just before reaching the Hwy. 603 overpass, traveled several yards along the grassy median, and "literally flew" off an embankment and came to rest against the bridge support pillars of the I-10 west-bound lanes at the edge of Hwy. 603.

Neither the tractor nor the trailer touched ground between the edge of the 30-foot high embankment and a point below some 30 yards away where the rig flew into pieces when it impacted with the drainage ditch.

"He must have literally come flying off that embankment," the investigating officer said.

The driver, identified by hospital authorities as one Donnie Martin, 22, of Baton Rouge, La., was reported in critical condition and still in surgery late Wednesday at Gulf Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi.

Officers at the scene said Martin is believed to have been driving for Young Brothers, a chemical firm headquartered in Houston, Tex.

He was thrown through the windshield of the cab upon impact.

Deputy Ronnie Farrell of the Hancock County Sheriff's office was the first officer on the scene and administered first aid to the injured driver, the investigating officer reported.

Late Wednesday, authorities at the scene awaited a company safety official who was to supervise the unloading of two compartments on the tanker still filled with the highly-flammable fuel.

Two other compartments ruptured in the accident continued to leak into the Hwy. 603 drainage ditch.

Diamondhead Fire Chief Edward Friloux said the methanol fuel forms an explosive mixture when mixed with air, and could cause serious burns and injury upon short exposure to the skin, as well as serious respiratory injury from resulting fumes.

Ladner said the accident occurred about 4 a.m., and both highways were closed until almost 8 a.m. due to the danger of explosion.

Because of the position of the wrecked tanker, an explosion could have resulted in destruction of the I-10 overpasses.

Ladner said officers from the sheriff's office, Bay St. Louis police and Waveland police, as well as the highway patrol, assisted in traffic control at the scene.

Chief Richard Fayard and members of the Bay St. Louis fire department remained at the scene late Wednesday, assisting the Diamondhead firemen in the hazardous task of removing the wrecked tanker under the continuing threat of explosion and fire.

Upon impact, the tanker crashed into the back of the tractor cab. All wheels and axels were wrenched from the trailer, and the tractor's diesel fuel tanks were ripped from the chassis.

The tangled mass presented a bizarre scene at the intersection of the two highways Wednesday morning.

"How that tanker landed that way without exploding, and how that driver was not killed, I'll never know," the experienced highway patrolman investigating the accident exclaimed.

Chief Fayard said firemen at the scene were not equipped to extinguish a methanol fire if the tanker had exploded.

"With what we've got, we couldn't handle it," Fayard said, adding, "we would have just had to try to contain the fire."

"An alcohol foam and dry chemical would be required to fight such a fire," Fayard said. He noted that such fire fighting equipment is available at the NASA-NSTL facility in the event it is needed in an emergency.

Chief Friloux said the Diamondhead trucks are equipped with "light water" foam, and Bay St. Louis trucks carry "high protein" foam, both of which would have been useful to some extent in fighting a methanol fire.

Two engines from Diamondhead and one from Bay St. Louis, as well as some 15 firefighters were at the scene of the accident.

Friloux said he and Fayard were in contact with Chemtrac, a 24-hour hot line service to fire departments provided by the Manufacturing Chemists Association, which provided invaluable information on how to handle the situation involving methanol.

Friloux said the firemen would remain on the scene until the fuel had been cleared.

By FRED HORN Happenings

Approximately 80 Senior Citizens retaining the holiday spirit sang Happy Birthday to the following seniors who have birthdays in November: Sam Cuti, Mary G. Smith, Oline Moran, Eva Vince, Rev. Hall, Agnes Inch, Carrie Williams, Grace L. Clayborn, Nora H. Moree, Lucie Bradt, and your truly whose 68th birthday fell on the same day as our birthday party, Monday, Nov. 28th. The special prize for the birthday seniors was two chicken dinners donated by Danny's Fried Chicken, US 90, won by Eva Vince. Consolation prizes donated by Herbert F. Debuys, owner of Santa's Forest, was a Christmas tree, won by Sam Cuti. Santa's Forest by the way is a place where you can choose and cut your own tree. Hope you have a sharp axe Sam.

Louis Burghard, our versatile pianist, started the festivities by playing everyone's favorite tunes, including a group of Christmas Songs, followed by a community song fest led by yours truly, singing Peggy O'Neil, Old McDonald Had a Farm, Anna Lee, After the Ball, Toot Toot Tootsie, Oh Them Golden Slippers, When I Grow Too Old To Dream and I Love You Truly. Your truly sang a group of George M. Cohan's songs, Give My Regards to Broadway, Mary is a Grand Old Name, Grand Old Flag, and Yankee Doodle Dandy.

The door prize donated by Spanish Trail Super Market was won by Elise McCaleb. Orchids to all the RSVP members who helped to make the November birthday party successful. Telephone Committee consisted of Jewell Stratton, Eva Ruhr, Cecile Galivan, Catherine Galivan, Marie Longo, Mrs. Harlan Watkins, Lucille Miller, Maggie Damborino, Bernice Scafield, O. J. Lovell, Helen Cuevas and Nina Garner. Baking cakes, Bertha Mahan, Bea Favre, Georgia Diebold, Carrie Williams, Ila Stroh-meyer and Ester Cuevas. Ladies who served were Georgia Diebold, Josie Scavo, Ethel Domain, Julia Leddy and Audrey Curet, Hugh Miller for setting up the public address system, and controlling our audio, and to Jewell Stratton for registering all our seniors who attended this event.

NEW FEATURE
Attention Seniors - starting Tuesday, December 6th at 8:30 A.M. and every Tuesday thereafter, coffee and hot biscuits will be served at the Waveland Civic Center. Plan to attend this event every Tuesday. It will be an opportunity for many Seniors that have been unable to attend any of our recreation activities to renew old acquaintances and chat about any type of subject that may come to your mind.

Instead of having breakfast at home plan to have it at the Waveland Civic Center. It is an open invitation to all Senior Citizens in Hancock County that have reached the age of 60. Pere Cabibi will be there to give blood pressure tests.

TRANSPORTATION
Beginning Thursday, December 15, the Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority will provide transportation on a trial basis. A 40 passenger bus will leave the Senior Citizen Center in Bay St. Louis at 9 A.M., stop in Long Beach for free coffee and donuts, then to Gulfport for a stop, the V.A. Hospital for a stop, if needed, and on to Edgewater Plaza, with a lay over for 3 hours then back home by 3 P.M.

The service will be on a subscription basis and round trip tickets will be $4.50. For three months the subscription will be $13.50. The bus must be full in order for this to be a success. That is why the Long Beach Senior Citizens will be asked to share the bus with us for a cost of $4 to them. This will help us and them and offer a chance to socialize.

After the first trip, we will then decide the dates for the other two trips in January and February. These plans are all tentative, but we hope it is successful so that the bus can run once a month on a permanent basis. Call Jim Hoda at 467-9292 for reservations and any other information you might need.

HORTICULTURE
The class is getting ready for the holidays preparing floral arrangements. Wilma Miller class instructor and her class will make up any Christmas Floral Arrangements, using the classes material, for a reasonable sum. You can bring your own arrangement and containers to be made up by the class for a less reasonable sum, and if you are interested please call 467-7677.

QUILTING
Any Senior Citizen who would like to make a donation to the quilt the class has made, can do so by calling Jim Hoda, 467-9292. The raffle will be at the Christmas Party December 19th.

Nurses band to aid own education

The Mississippi Hospital Association has recently organized a Society for Hospital Education, according to Charles W. Flynn, President. The primary goal of this new organization affiliated with the association is to advance the development of effective continuing and in-service education for all levels of personnel employed by Mississippi hospitals.

"Virtually every individual working in a hospital is required or encouraged to have some form of ongoing continuing and in-service education," states Flynn.

"We are acutely aware that over two hundred occupational categories of individuals working in hospitals face challenges and technological changes unheard of a few years ago." Every hospital provides educational services for its personnel but there are new trends and responsibilities of hospitals for patient education and consumer education. This new society will focus on enhancing all areas of human resource development in hospitals.

Jamie R. Hughes, R.N., Director of Nursing at Riverside Hospital in Jackson, has been named the charter President of the Society.

BAY ST. LOUIS
The Senior Citizens Club will hold their Christmas Party on Tuesday, Dec. 6th from 1:30 to 3:30 P.M. at the Senior Citizens Center on the Old Spanish Trail. Every member please bring a covered dish. The Christmas party is only for Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Club members.

New book review City-County Public Library by Prima Wusack

The following books may be obtained through any Library of the Hancock County Library System:

MADDER MUSIC by Peter De Vries. This is the story of a man who thinks he is Groucho Marx. Delusions of grandeur? Well, not exactly. Middle-aged, middle-class, free-lance writer Bob Swirling has a rather poor opinion of himself, and after a series of bruising events under progressively more deflating circumstances, he fetches up at Silver Slopes sanatorium, happily bustling about in the adopted guise of his favorite comedian.

SECRETS OF THE GOLDEN DOOR by Deborah Mazzanti. Located in Escondido, California, the Golden Door is one of the world's super-spas. The author who also founded the Golden Door, shares nearly forty years of spa living, dreaming, and eating in a complete, well-balanced program of exercise, diet, and philosophy to follow in your own home.

FIELD OF DEATH by Stephen Overholser. Aaron Mills fell in love with Sadie Ann the first time he saw her, but he was soon to look upon his meeting with her as the beginning of a long and perilous journey.

REQUIEM: THE DECLINE AND DEMISE OF MAYOR DALEY AND HIS ERA. The author, Len O'Connor, chronicles the mayor's deterioration and reveals what could not have been published during the lifetime of the last city boss.

Girl Scouts awarded medal

Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council received the Juliette Low World Friendship Medal last week in recognition of their outstanding efforts to increase international understanding and friendship during the 50th Anniversary year of the fund established to promote worldwide sisterhood of young girls.

Congressman Trent Lott made the presentation at the Broadwater Hotel to Jim Gambrell, president, and Mrs. William Fairley, executive director.

The medal and certificate were sent from Girl Scouts of the United States of America national headquarters in New York for the occasion.

Excerpts from the letter announcing the award, from Dr. Gloria Scott, President of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., and Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, International Commissioner, were read by President Gambrell.

Congressman Lott said only seven Councils in an eight-state area, or Region IV, had qualified for the award. He lauded the growth and progress of Gulf Pines Council in programs for all young girls in scouting, and their efforts to reach all girls in the fifteen-county area.

The presentation took place at the final board meeting of 1977, and the installation of new board members.

Harvill outdoors

By Donald Harvill

By Donald Harvill
The salt water fishing, as far as specks and red fish are concerned, has been fairly good. Most of the specks and reds are being caught out front and in the river mouths.

The best fresh water fishing seems to be coming from around the Pearl River and its tributaries. Bass seem to be the fresh water fisherman's main objective, but some fishermen will be glad to know that some bream are also being caught.

I've only heard of one bowhunter even connecting with a deer so far this year. The hunter, John Simpson of Longe Beach, while hunting near Pearlington last Saturday, unleashed the power of his Browning Compound upon a spike buck, and his broadhead drove home. The only problem was that the deer kept on truckin' resulting in the animal with the arrow still embedded being dispatched shortly afterward by a gun hunter. I never did find out how the deer was split, but I'm sure it was divided somehow.

Dave Harvill managed to bring home the meat last Thursday, when he downed a spike buck with one crack of his 30-06. The deer wasn't much on horns but you can be sure he'll do just fine on the table.

The first split of deer season closes this Thursday, Dec. 1. The second split of the season will open after Christmas on Dec. 26. The deer hunting is usually better during the second split, especially for still-hunting.

The Mississippi duck season opens this Saturday, Dec. 3. Mississippi will be working under a point system this year.

The same as last year. You can pick up a copy of the point system at the same places that sell hunting licenses. You need to know the system, it could mean the difference between baked duck and your cooked goose.

Pirates take barn burner

The Pass Christian Pirates won a barn burner Tuesday night over Pearl River when Mackie Dedeaux stole a pass and scored a layup with only 10 seconds left to give the Pirates a 56-55 victory.

In the victory John Whitmann grabbed 28 rebounds to break a school record of 26 set by Robin Malley in the 1975-76 season.

Leading scorer for the Pirates was Carl Bowser with 23 aided by Cullen Swanier's 14.

The lady Pirates coached by Jenny Ladner won their fifth of the season by a score of 49-18 over the girls of Pearl River. The Lady Pirates with only one defeat are getting ready for their contest against the undefeated Hawkettes of North Central coming up Saturday in the Pass Christian Round Robin Tournament. Before the Hawkettes they play Bay High and St. John girls.

The Pass Christian Tournament started last night and will continue through Saturday.

good quail hunt. I've noticed quite a few of the plump, little fowl. All indications point toward a good quail season.

PEARLINGTON - The fresh water fishing is still good. The water in the river is a little muddy because of the water coming down from the upper Pearl, but it hasn't hurt the bass fishing. Thanksgiving day Jack and Walter Patterson caught their limit of nice bass. Bob More also caught his limit of real nice bass. A few ducks were killed over the weekend in Louisiana. We open at daylight on weekdays and at 5:00 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. We close each day at dark and are closed on Tuesdays. (Mr. Roy Baxter, Pearl River Marina)

KILN - There are not many fish being caught in the river right now. People are still fishing, but are only catching a few specks near the mouth of the river. There were a few deer killed over the weekend. There hasn't been too many people squirrel hunting lately. (Andy Ladner, Andy's Baitshop, at Kiln Supermarket)

BAYOU CADDY - Friday and Saturday were both good fishing days, a good many specks and reds were caught in the marshes at Nine Mile and Three Mile Bayou. Biloxi

Bayou and at Half Moon. Dr. Mastry and Joe Damens caught some nice specks and red fish at Biloxi Bayou. Claude Duke and Mr. McWayne caught some specks and red fish at Three Mile Bayou. Hulan Cameron from Hattiesburg caught a nice mess of fish at Nine Mile Bayou (Wilford Bodge, Bodge Bros. Marina)

JOE'S BAYOU - The fishing was pretty good over the weekend. There is good fishing up the river and by the bridge. People are catching some beautiful specks in the river weighing 3 and 4 pounds each. Sheephead and small drum are biting in the river. A few crabs are also being caught. The water is clear but the tide is real low. We still have plenty live bait. (Mrs. Allie Cospelich, Joe's Bayou Marina)

ANSLEY - The fishing wasn't very good over the weekend. Toxie Hall, son Wayne and brother-in-law, Pierre Collins caught 75 trout, a 16 lb. red fish and several other reds weighing about 10 lbs. Friday in the Louisiana Marshes. Some bream and bass are being caught in the canals. A few rat reds were caught in the river on Saturday. We only have frozen bait now. (Mrs. Toxie Hall, LaFrance's Fishing Camp)

PRJC Navy oceanographers rig ship-shore training plan

Pearl River Junior College and the U. S. Naval Oceanographic Office at the NSTL in Hancock County will offer a Co-Op program for students training to be physical science technicians.

PRC students can fill a maximum of six slots in the new program beginning the spring semester according to Dr. James Barnes, chairman of the Pearl River Science Department.

"It's a go to school one semester and work a semester type arrangement," Barnes said. Students qualifying will attend classes on the PRC campus and then spend their next semester on an Oceanographic research ship somewhere around the world.

While working on the ship, students will get paid an hourly wage and will be furnished lodging, food and air transportation to the ship.

"It's an excellent opportunity to get an education and see the world," Barnes said. "It also gives a student an opportunity to see if he or she really likes this type of Safety commission gives overboard reaction drill

Among the principal dangers of winter hunting and fishing is falling into icy waters and the subsequent body heat loss - frequently severe enough to cause death.

The Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission this week warned Bay of St. Louis and surrounding waterway users that hypothermia - loss of body heat in cold water - is believed to have killed more hunters and fishermen than any other cause.

The human body loses heat 30 times faster in water than in air, with any kind of movement in the water rapidly increasing the loss rate, the commission reports.

Areas of highest heat loss are groin, armpits, neck and head, the commission noted. The best preventative measure against exhaustion, shock or possible death in the event one falls overboard, the commission urges, is to be wearing a personal flotation device or life preserver.

"It can't save your life if you're not wearing it," the commission emphasizes.

Should you fall overboard, think twice about removing heavy clothing - air trapped between layers can help keep you afloat and act as an insulator to reduce heat loss," the commission suggests.

"The first concern will be to get out of the water," the commission stated, adding, "each second lost means valuable body heat lost."

"If you are unable to get out of the water," the commission advises, "reduce movement to a minimum and assume a fetal position with arms and legs slightly crossed to conserve body heat."

The commission also advises if more than one person is overboard, "...huddle together to lessen body heat loss."

To prevent capsizing a boat, the commission warns, avoid getting out of the water, sudden weight shift, as well as uneven distribution of equipment aboard the boat.

Hawkettes winning streak continues

Coach Charles' Gritham's Hawkettes won their sixth in row Tuesday night with a 50-41 victory over Stone County in the Hawk gym.

Shelia Ladner put 18 points through the hoops with Joy Lee getting 15. It was the second victory this season over Stone girls by the Hawkettes.

Roland Ladner's Hawks lost a close high scoring contest 90-88 to Stone. The Hawk scoring was led by Pat Necaise with 20 points.

Bulldog five stops Rocks

Vanceave Bulldogs taking a early lead Tuesday night went on to defeat St. Stanislaus, 72-51. High scorer for the Rocks was Charles Vincent with 20 points.

Moving closer to home the Rock-A-Chaws entertained the Pass Christian Pirates late last night in the Round Robin Tournament in progress in the Pass through Saturday night.

Vanceave was led by the scoring combination of brothers Ben and Jesse Wells who combined for 37 points and 23 rebounds.

The Hawks opened the Pass Christian Round Robin Tournament last night against St. John. The tourney continues through Saturday night.

The Hawkettes will play St. John's tonight in the Pass tourney.

Rebels volleyball in national play

With the end of the Thanksgiving Holidays the Lady Rebels volleyball team starts earnest preparation for the national tournament next week in Provo, Utah.

The Lady Rebels made to the national tournament by coming in second in the regional behind Alabama. The Rebels record for the season is 33-10. On their way to the best season ever they won the Ole Miss Invitational and the Mississippi AIAW Tournament.

At Provo, the Rebels will be pooled with USC, Houston, Illinois State, Kansas State and Arizona State. USC is the defending national champions and Houston has a 6-4 All-American candidate.

The Lady Rebels have their share of excellent players, too, in junior Nancy Esslinger who transferred here from an

In days of yore

by S. G. Thigpen

County Historian

Hog killing time was important event

Hog killing time was a great time of the year when I grew up 75 to 85 years ago.

When I push a button and on comes a brilliant light, I often think back to my childhood when, to have a light, it was necessary to light a small kerosene lamp that gave off at best a dim light or in winter to build a fire in the fireplace. Sometime back I rode 20 miles in 20 minutes over a road that took me, when a boy, a whole day with a wagon team. We talk fondly of the good old days and they were good old days, but who would go back to the time of no weather forecasts, no radio or television, no automobiles, no modern home appliances, no gas or electricity, no modern markets and stores, and none of many other things we now enjoy? While I would not take anything in the world for the experiences of my youth, I do not want to go back to that kind of living.

I think I am most fortunate to have lived in my time, from 1890 on up into the 1970s. I have seen the great change from the old time pioneer ways to the modern ways of today. I have seen more progress in my lifetime than took place in a thousand years before 1890. No other people in all the history of the world have seen such change as have my generation.

One of the great changes has been in the handling and use of meats. Today we go to the nearby market and buy most any kind of fresh meat we want and think nothing of it, but when I was a boy growing up on a farm in central Mississippi, fresh meat was a rare treat, a special occasion. Meat was not sold in the country stores back then. If a person wanted meat to eat back in the old days, he had to grow his cows and hogs himself, do the butchering himself, process the meat and cure it for future use. Back then we had fresh meat, so easy to get anywhere now, for a very short time only a few times a year, as fresh meat, without refrigeration, would spoil quickly. In the summer time, nearby neighbors would cooperate with one another by killing a cow or a hog and dividing it up so that it could be eaten before it spoiled.

My father along with other farmers would plan in the spring for meat the next fall and winter. He always had about two litters of pigs growing up on the place. They would run in the woods and pastures during the summer and early fall. After crops were gathered the hogs and cows would be turned in on the fields to eat the corn and peas that had been missed in the harvest. After the hogs had stayed on the fields for a few weeks they would be penned up and corn fed in preparation for, butchering when cold weather came.

A few hogs would be left in the woods to get fat on the meat from oak trees, scaly bark trees and other meat producing trees. Hogs fattened on meat and then fed out on corn to firm up the meat produced the highest quality of meat. Old timers said such meat had a "wild" taste - a better taste than when just fattened on corn.

When I look back, it is positively uncanny how old people could tell when cold weather was coming. There were no weather forecasts or weather news in the paper such as we have now to warn us of the coming of cold weather. They were on their own! They watched everything such as the flight of the wild geese and the actions of other fowl. They watched the cloud formations, the speed and direction of the winds, the drift and height of the clouds, the action of the smoke that curled up from the chimneys found then in every home. There were other signs that I do not know about. When they were convinced that cold weather was nearby they would prepare for hog-killing time. In many ways we are not nearly so well educated in practical things as were our parents and grandparents.

Hog killing time was a most important occasion back in the old days. Every good farmer had his meat hogs. A farmer who did not produce meat for his family was looked down upon as shiftless and no good. My father would be most careful to see if the weather change was to be a real cold spell before killing his hogs. I remember once when there was a good freeze one morning and he decided to kill hogs. He killed several nice hogs that morning and prepared them for the smoke house, but up towards the middle of the day it warmed up and that night was so warm that the meat spoiled and was a total loss.

The coldest weather was best for hog killing. In the early morning the big old cast iron wash pot would be filled with water and a roaring fire built under it. While the water was heating to the boiling point the first hog would be killed. When I can first remember my father used an ax to knock the hog in the head but later a 22 rifle was used. First, the hog would be bled, then boiling water would be poured into a strongly built barrels - I think it must have been a syrup barrel - slanted at about a 45 degree angle. Then two men would take the dead hog and shove it down into the hot water. Then they would reverse the end of the hog and shove it into the barrel from the other end. Next the hog would be taken out of the hot water and the loosened hair scraped off. A slit would be made in each hind leg of the hog between the tendon and the bone. The hog would then be hung up, head down from the limb of a nearby tree with a stout hickory stick across the limb, each end of the stick run through the slit in the legs. The hog would be gutted with a sharp knife, with a tub underneath to catch the entrails, liver, lights, etc. The hog would be left hanging there for a time to cool off in the cold air, with the workers busy with other hogs. After cooling a proper time, the carcass would be placed on a strongly built table and cut into hams, shoulders, back bones, middlings and other pieces. The fat wherever found would be removed to render into lard.

In trimming the hog up on the table, the odd pieces and trimmings of lean meat would be put aside to be ground into sausage. Every farm woman took great pride in her sausage, as almost every farm man boasted of making the best sugar cane syrup. Recipes proven and handed down from mother to daughter were used, red pepper being one of the essential ingredients. My mother used just a little bit of red pepper in the sausage for flavor while some others used so much that the sausage would almost set your innards on fire. The sausage was stuffed into the hog's intestines, prepared in advance for that purpose, and hung, with the other meat, to cure in the smoke house.

Outside the kitchen door near the house stood the old log smokehouse. It was about 12 feet by 12 feet with poles for joists about every foot. All the spaces between the logs were chinked up to make it fairly tight. The meat cuts destined for the smokehouse were thoroughly salted, well rubbed in. As I remember it the meat was laid on pine tops and left in the cold for the night. Next morning it would be well rubbed with salt again, then hung to the joists. Bear grass which grew on the farm furnished the strings which held the meat. A smoldering fire on the dirt floor in the center of the smokehouse would be going with slow burning, smoke producing green hickory wood as the fuel, kindled with dry oak, or other dry splinters. The fire kept going for days until the meat was properly cured.

Nothing of the hog was wasted. The head and the feet were cooked, the bones removed and the resulting meat seasoned and made into couse. I never heard of it being called hoghead cheese when I grew up. Every woman had her own way of preparing couse. Incidentally I have not seen any couse or tasted any in many a year.

My favorite of all was backbone and dumplings. My father always left plenty lean meat attached to the backbone, which, when properly cooked with dumplings was the most taste tempting of all the products of the hog. Other

LT. CDR. E.J. EVERETT
Navy Lieutenant Commander Ernest J. Everett, husband of Reggie L. Everett of 570 Mockingbird Drive, Long Beach, recently deployed to the Indian Ocean Island of Diego Garcia.

He is serving as the executive officer of Naval Mobile Construction Battalion (NMCB) - 74, homebased in Gulfport.

During their eight and a half month tour on the isolated island, the "Seabees" of NMCB-74 are scheduled to extend the island's airfield runway, build a series of new enlisted men's quarters, install a new water system and erect fuel storage facilities. Diego Garcia is a remote island 1,000 miles south of the tip of India. Its only inhabitants are Navy "Seabees" and communications personnel, as well as a small group of British sailors.

A 1962 graduate of the University of Florida, Gainesville, and a 1973 graduate of Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, with a master of science degree, he joined the Navy in December 1962.

Hog killing time was important...

parts of the hog eaten fresh were spare ribs, liver and chitterlings, popularly called chitlins. Chitlins were made from the hog intestines after being thoroughly cleaned. They were boiled for a time and then fried. Chitlins were considered a great delicacy. When properly prepared they were really good to eat. In several counties in Mississippi, notably Jones County, there are chitlin eaters associations, or clubs, who meet and serve chitlins to all guests.

Still other foods from hogs were cracklins and lard, used for cooking. All the fat on the hog would be cut off, cut up into small pieces and rendered into lard. After all the fat was cooked out of the fat meat, the residue left was called cracklins. I remember that we would have cracklin bread for a time after hog killing day.

If the weather stayed cold, we would eat spare ribs, the liver and other fresh meat for days. If it turned warm, my mother would cook everything she had room for because it would keep so much better when cooked.

The foods produced on the farm, without additives or preservatives, were more healthy - much better for you - I think, than much of the processed foods we buy today.

People were much more self dependent in the old days. I often wonder what would happen if a nation wide strike should tie up all transportation for a few weeks and the stores ran out of food. In the old days people would not have worried about it as they made what they ate at home.
